A Sustainable Model for Women's Leadership

Why in news?

It is the right time to build a sustainable model for women empowerment considering _900 million adolescent girls_ across the world.

What is the status of women's leadership?

- According to the Women's World Atlas, _only four countries_ have achieved parity between women and men in parliament.
- The world is home to 900 million adolescent girls and young women poised to shape the future of work and growth.
- The World Bank notes that over 43% of Indian STEM (science, technology, engineering and mathematics) graduates are women.

How significant is women's leadership?

- Women leadership is crucial to tackling _climate crisis._
- Women leadership leads _to peaceful foreign diplomacy_ cutting across borders.
- In government at national and more local levels, women leaders are associated with fewer deaths and _faster action._
- In companies, women leaders have proven to be _motivating_ and communicative during any crisis.

What are the key elements for women's leadership?

- ICT - Women at all levels of society must have inclusion in the Information and Communications Technology (ICT).
- Bodily autonomy – Women need to be empowered to make decisions about their bodies.
- Shared responsibility within the household – It is crucial for us to recognize, reduce and redistribute unpaid care and domestic work, so that women may enjoy economic opportunities and outcomes on an equal footing to men.
- Educational Technology solutions - gives us tools to _bridge part of the accessibility gap_ in education through hybrid learning models.
- Beyond comfort zone - Moving beyond one's comfort zone is critical for women leaders as it helps build resilience and confidence.
- Dismantling stereotypes - Actively countering stereotypes and advocating for the inclusion of women in all fields.
- Sporting activities - The inclusion of adolescent girls and young women in sports can build their self-confidence, strengthen self-belief, and impart the nuances of teamwork.
- Providing employability - multi-pronged approach is needed in enhancing women's employability.

What are the barriers to women's leadership?

- Gender norms that disproportionately allocate domestic and care responsibilities to women
- Representation of men as leaders of STEM (Science, Technology Engineering, and Mathematics), finance, and entrepreneurial fields
- Inadequate maternity leave
- Lack of childcare facilities in the workplace

References

1. The Hindu | Women's Leadership
2. UNFCCC |Women Climate Champions