What is the difference between CrPC and BNSS2?

Key aspect	CrPC	BNSS2
------------	------	-------

Detention of undertrials	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• If an accused has spent half of the maximum period of imprisonment in detention, he must be released on personal bond.</li> <li>• This does not apply to offences punishable by death.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• This provision will also not apply to offences punishable by life imprisonment and</li> <li>• Persons against whom proceedings are pending in more than one offence.</li> </ul>
Medical examination	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• It allows medical examination of the accused in certain cases, including rape cases.</li> <li>• Such examination is done by a registered medical practitioner on the request of at least a sub inspector level police officer.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• It provides that any police officer can request such an examination.</li> </ul>
Samples for investigation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• It empowers a Magistrate to order any person to provide specimen signatures or handwriting.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• It expands this to include finger impressions and voice samples.</li> <li>• It allows these samples to be collected from a person who has not been arrested.</li> </ul>
Hierarchy of Courts	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• It establishes hierarchy of courts for the adjudication of criminal matters in India.</li> <li>• These include <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Magistrate's Courts- Subordinate courts responsible for the trial of most criminal cases.</li> <li>- Sessions Courts- It is presided over by a Sessions Judge and hear appeals from Magistrate's Courts.</li> <li>- High Courts- They have inherent jurisdiction to hear and decide criminal cases and appeals.</li> <li>- Supreme Court- They hear appeals from High Courts and also exercise its original jurisdiction in certain matters.</li> </ul> </li> <li>• It empowers the State governments to notify any city or town with a population of more than 1 million as a metropolitan area.</li> <li>• Such areas have Metropolitan Magistrates.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• It removes the classification of metropolitan areas and Metropolitan Magistrates.</li> </ul>
Procedure of police custody	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The Constitution and CrPC prohibit detention in police custody beyond 24 hours.</li> <li>• The Magistrate is empowered to extend it up to 15 days in case investigation cannot be completed within 24 hours.</li> <li>• The overall detention cannot exceed 60 or 90 days depending on the offence.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• It adds that the police custody of 15 days can be authorised in whole or in parts at any time during the initial 40 or 60 days out of the 60 or 90 days period</li> </ul>

What are the cons of BNSS2?

- Alteration of police custody procedure- Extension in the police custody may lead to

- denial of bail* for the entire period if the police has not exhausted the 15 days custody.
- Power to use handcuffs- The Supreme Court has held that the use of handcuffs is inhumane, unreasonable, arbitrary, and repugnant to Article 21.
    - It has ruled that no prisoners undergoing trial can be handcuffed without obtaining judicial consent.
    - The use of handcuffs is permitted in the range of cases including organised crime, contradicting Supreme Court directions.
  - Data collection- It allows collection of samples for investigation from persons who have not been arrested under any investigation, the need for retaining data collection provisions and expanding on them in the BNSS2 is unclear.
  - Limits the scope for bail- The CrPC provides for bail for an accused who has been detained for half the maximum imprisonment for the offence. The BNSS2 denies this facility for anyone facing multiple charges.
  - The power to attach property from proceeds of crime does not have safeguards provided in the Prevention of Money Laundering Act.
  - Public order- The BNSS2 retains provisions of the CrPC related to maintenance of public order.
    - Since trial procedure and maintenance of public order are distinct functions, the question is whether they should be regulated under the same law or be dealt with separately.
  - Recommendations of high level committees- It recommended changes to the CrPC such as reforms in sentencing guidelines and codifying rights of the accused have not been incorporated in the BNSS2.
