What is the changing dynamics of CSC?

- Disruption It started in 2011 but it came to a standstill after 2014 due to rising tensions between India and the Maldives which led to the suspension of meetings between 2014 and 2020.
- Revival In 2020, India pushed for the revival and thus it was rebranded as Colombo Security Conclave.
- India also expressed interest in expanding the CSC to the Seychelles and Bangladesh who are currently observer nations.
- Reason for revival It is due to increasing importance of Indian Ocean in an evolving multipolar world today, with extra-regional powers competing to make inroads in the region.
- It is partially linked to the increased Chinese presence in Indian Ocean along with its Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) projects.
 - China has established a base in Djibouti and controls Sri Lanka's Hambantota port.
- Space for India's leadership It offers India an opportunity to institutionalise its role, shape the regional security architecture, and better address the existing and emerging threats.
- India plays as the 1st responder in the IOR, be it to avert coups or to offer humanitarian and economic assistance during COVID-19 and multi-faceted crises.

What are the challenges faced by CSC?

- Domestic politics It remains vulnerable to domestic political changes in memberstates, as evidenced by the Maldives' absence from the recent meeting.
- Chinese influence All member-states being democracies may continue to play nationalist and pro-China cards for domestic and external benefits as the Indo-Pacific region grows in prominence.
- Emerging Sub-regionalism The convergence of 6 Indian Ocean region countries within the CSC signifies the emergence of sub-regionalism on a unified maritime and security platform.

What lies ahead?

- Uphold a common strategic vision emphasizing the importance of not being hindered by the escalating Chinese influence in the region.
- Avert points of contention with neighbouring countries and foster collaboration in the region.
