

Concerns with Mehta Panel Report

\n\n

What is the issue?

\n\n

\n

- The Sunil Mehta Committee submitted a five-point plan on bad loan resolution.
- But the recommendations are less likely to be an immediate solution for early resolution of NPAs.

\n

\n\n

What are the concerns?

\n\n

\n

- Approach - Large banks helping smaller lead banks to run the resolution process, if required, sounds an ineffective suggestion.
- The bank-led resolution approach has largely failed in the past.
- Clearly, this is the reason why alternative plans to resolve NPAs quickly are being sought.
- Consensus - The lead bank's resolution plan to be approved by 66% of the lenders (by value) merely replaces the earlier JLF.
- The JLF (joint lenders' forum) structure failed miserably as it fell short of building consensus.
- The present committee report has missed to address this real challenge.
- Small banks - The structure also fails to serve the interests of smaller banks.

- \n
- If restructuring involves additional finance, small banks may be affected.
- \n
- As, unlike the larger ones, smaller banks may not prefer giving good money after the bad loans.
- \n
- Reconstruction - The report points out the lacunae in the existing functioning of asset reconstruction companies (ARCs).
- \n
- But it fails to address how such issues will be tackled under the proposed AMC or AIF structure.
- \n
- Success of price discovery through open auction under AMC/AIF depends on banks' willingness and capability to take financial risks.
- \n
- Clearly, unattractive returns and poor recovery rates have discouraged investors from bringing in capital in the past.
- \n
- Complex - The objective of early resolution to NPAs may be hampered by complicated work processes.
- \n
- E.g. there is lack of clarity on how AIFs will work with a series of AMCs for a quick resolution.
- \n
- Also, there are 26 ARCs and a couple of resolution advisory service companies in operation.
- \n
- Given this, creation of new platforms like the AMC in AIFs for NPA resolution seems illogical.
- \n

\n\n

What is the way forward?

\n\n

- \n
- Quick-fixes like utilising healthy banks' or institutions' assets to rescue stressed banks may not be sustainable.
- \n
- The long awaited structural reforms for the banks are:
- \n

\n\n

\n

- i. empowering the bank boards
\n
- ii. setting a roadmap for consolidation
\n
- iii. Centre diluting its stake in PSBs
\n

\n\n

\n

- These have to be paid attention to, and the Centre has to push through these reforms.
