

Delimitation Exercise

Why in News?

Home Minister recently asserted that delimitation will not lose any Parliamentary seat to the Southern states.

Constitutional provisions

- Election Commission defines delimitation as the process of drawing constituency boundaries for elected bodies based on the population in the most recent Census.
- Article 82 - It states that after every Census is completed, the allocation of Lok Sabha seats to each state must be adjusted based on population changes.
- Article 81 - It states there can be no more than 550 members in the Lok Sabha, 530 from states and 20 from Union Territories.
- It also says that the ratio between (the number of seats) and the population of the state is, so far as practicable, the same for all states.
- So, each constituency across the country should ideally have the same population.
- Purpose - The main purpose of undertaking the delimitation exercise is to rationalize the structure and composition of the electoral constituencies.
- It adheres to the principle of One Vote One value to provide representation to different sections of the population and remove gross inequalities in the population size of constituencies.
- Delimitation has taken place 4 times - 1952, 1963, 1973 and 2002, with the number of seats fixed and readjusted during the first 3 exercises.

Related Amendments

- In 1976, the 42nd Amendment to the Constitution froze the number of Lok Sabha seats and put off delimitation for 25 years until the 2001 Census under Article 82.
- 84th Amendment further delayed delimitation for another 25 years.
- Delimitation is expected to be held after the new Census exercise, which is much-delayed.
- As per the delimitation calendar set earlier, this was to happen by 2026.

Delimitation Commission

- The Constitution has provided for an independent Delimitation Commission every decade to reapportion seats among states.
- The Commission is appointed by the President of India.
- It comprises
 - A retired judge of the Supreme Court or a high court,
 - The Chief Election Commissioner, and
 - The State Election Commissioner.
- The Commission examines the changes in the population to redraw the constituencies or redraw a new one where it is necessary.
- The draft report is published in the Gazette of India which is open for public feedback.
- The final report is published after accounting for the public feedback.
- Once published, the Commission's orders are final and, as per the Delimitation Commission Act 1952 and Article 329A of the Constitution.
