

Issues with Indian Internal security

What is the issue?

\n\n

Amid growing challenges within, India misses a modern security apparatus, strategic vision and a long-term plan.

\n\n

What are internal threats to India?

\n\n

\n

- There is long standing insurgency in Jammu and Kashmir.
- Various secessionist and rebel movements in the North East and Eastern regions.
- Left wing extremism in red corridor states.
- Political instability created by non-secular forces.
- Uprising of the disappointed masses.

\n\n

What are the issues with present internal security policies?

\n\n

\n

- No adequate attention to strengthening the internal security apparatus.
- Liquidated National Security Advisory Board (NSAB).
- Ignorance of the government to take ad hoc decisions on crucial matters.
- No long-term policy for Jammu and Kashmir.
- No strategic vision to tackle the Maoist insurgency.

\n

\n

- SMART police could never take off because of the indifference of the states.

\n

\n\n

What could be done?

\n\n

\n

- The US and UK revise their national security doctrines every year and place them in the public domain, India can follow such ideas.

\n

- British imperialists had one Police Act for the entire country, thus police reforms are need of the hour.

\n

- There are threats to internal security by the Islamic state; setting up a National Counter-Terrorism Centre (NCTC) will help to address the issue.

\n

- The government need to setup dedicated autonomous bodies to strengthen our northern frontiers.

\n

- New formula of SAMADHAN to tackle the Naxal problems should be framed in a reliable way.
