

Military Reforms

Why in news?

 $n\n$

The government has approved a host of reforms in the military, with proposals to cut excess deployment and improve financial management.

 $n\n$

Shekatkar committee:

 $n\n$

\n

• Defence Minister has approved most of the proposals of a committee of experts, headed by Lt. Gen. D.B. Shekatkar (Retd), constituted by the Defence Ministry.

۱n

• The committee, set up in 2015 to recommend measures to enhance combat capability and rebalance defence expenditure of the armed forces, has submitted its final report in December 2016.

 $n\n$

What the committee recommends?

 $n\n$

\n

\n

- Savings: The committee has said that if its recommendations are implemented over the next five years, the government can save up to Rs 25,000 crore from the current expenditure.
- Most of the recommendations are measures to cut down excessiveness in the Army to make it lean and agile and increase coordination among the three Services.

• If the proposal to reduce deployment of active-duty soldiers in avoidable postings were to be implemented, retired officers and jawans will replace serving personnel in the running of the National Cadet Corps (NCC).

\n

Defence budget: The panel has recommended a roll-on defence budget to have enough capital expenditure available for modernisation as against the present practice of surrendering unspent capital budget at the end of each financial year.

\n

\n

- Transparency: The committee has recommended a performance audit of the role of non-combat organisations under the Defence Ministry.
- Manpower: The committee has suggested downsizing or rationalisation of manpower in these organisations, which can lead to significant savings.
- Another recommendation is the setting up of a joint services war college for training middle-level officers.
- NCC reforms: Comprehensive reforms in the running of NCC could be rolled out over the next few years.
- \bullet Progressively, the NCC could be run by re-employed or on-contract exservice personnel. $\ensuremath{^{\text{NC}}}$
- \bullet The NCC will be transferred out of the Defence Ministry to the HRD Ministry. $\ensuremath{^{\backslash n}}$

 $n\n$

 $n\n$

Source: The Hindu

\n

