

New Payroll Report by Niti Aayog

Why in news?

\n\n

A new payroll report to gauge the level of employment generation has been released by the Niti Aayog.

\n\n

What is new payroll data report about?

\n\n

\n

- The report of payroll data is an important first step by the Union government to track job growth more closely.

\n

- The payroll data collected by the Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO), Employees' State Insurance Corporation (ESIC) and the Pension fund Regulatory & Development Authority (PFRDA) has been consolidated by the Niti Aayog in the form of a report.

\n

- This report will be released every month, to track the number of jobs added in the formal sector.

\n

- The recently released report has measured the rate of employment addition for the period 2017 September to 2018 February.

\n

- It highlights the new jobs generated in the 6 month period with the help of EPFO and PFRDA data.

\n

- And the data collected by EPFO and PFRDA has suggested that jobs are being created in the country, which is seen as a positive growth indicator.

\n

\n\n

What are the limitations with the report?

\n\n

\n

- This report collects data only from the union and state government establishments and do not capture the jobs created in the professional jobs.
\n
- Also, employment generation in the informal sector, especially in the agriculture and micro enterprises are not captured which hold more than half of the total employee population.
\n
- There is no methods used in the report to filter duplicate data and data from inactive accounts in EPFO and PFRDA.
\n
- It is also possible that many new jobs accounted were already existing in informal sector but newly moved to the formal sector.
\n

\n\n

What measures can be taken to address these limitations?

\n\n

- \n
- The NITI Aayog can additionally source data from the ICAI, bar council, medical council and other professional bodies to account for other avenues of employment.
\n
- Periodic surveys can be conducted to identify the job creation in the informal sectors.
\n
- Collaboration with NSSO can be done to bring out annual and quarterly surveys to provide a holistic picture of the employment status in the country.
