Reservations in Lok Sabha and State Assemblies

- Article 334 of Indian Constitution provides for reservation of seats and special representation of SC/ST's and from Anglo-Indian community (by nomination) in the Lok Sabha and State Legislative Assemblies.
- In the original constitution of 1949, it states that such special representation will cease to have effect after 10 years.
- Parliament through various constitution amendment has extended the time period of reservation for the communities.
- The period of reservation was extended to 1970, 1980, 1990, 2000 and 2010 by the 8th, 23rd, 45th, 62nd and 79th Amendments respectively.
- The 95th constitution amendment extended the reservation upto January 26, 2020.
- Thus, the reservation for these categories in the lower House of Parliament and the State Assemblies was to expire on 25th January next year.
- So, Union Cabinet has approved a proposal to extend reservation for SC/ST's in the Lok Sabha and State Assemblies for another 10 years.
- But a question mark prevailed over whether it has extended reservations for two seats in the Lok Sabha for the Anglo-Indian community.
- Article 334, clause b provides for nomination of 2 Anglo-Indian community in the Lok Sabha.
- Presently, there are 84 members from the Scheduled Caste and 47 from the Scheduled Tribe communities in Parliament.

Exchange Traded Fund

- An ETF is a type of fund that tracks the underlying assets and divides ownership of those assets into shares.
- The underlying assets can be shares of stock, bonds, oil futures, gold bars, foreign currency, etc.
- Shareholders do not directly own or have any direct claim to the underlying investments in the fund, rather they indirectly own these assets.
- The ETFs trading value is based on the net asset value of the underlying stocks that it represents.
- ETF shareholders are entitled to a proportion of the profits, such as earned interest or dividends paid, and they may get a residual value in case the fund is liquidated.
- ETF Vs Mutual Fund - The transaction of stocks and bonds under the Mutual Fund is with the company that manages the fund.
- Whereas in ETF, the ownership of the fund can easily be bought, sold or transferred in the same way as shares of stock, since ETF shares are traded on public stock exchanges.
