- Pro-Planet People - LiFE plans to leverage the strength of social networks to influence social norms surrounding climate.
- So, the Mission plans to create and nurture a global network of individuals, namely 'Pro-Planet People' (P3).
- The Mission intends to nudge people to undertake simple acts in their daily lives that can contribute significantly to climate change.
- It will have a shared commitment to adopt and promote environmentally friendly lifestyles.
- Through the P3 community, the Mission seeks to create an ecosystem that will reinforce and enable environmentally friendly behaviours to be self-sustainable.

The 'Global Multidimensional Poverty Index 2022: Unpacking deprivation bundles to reduce multidimensional poverty', was released by the UNDP-Human Development Report Office.

- The Global Multidimensional Poverty Index (MPI) is an international measure of acute poverty covering over 100 developing countries.
- The Global MPI was developed by Oxford Poverty and Human Development Initiative (OPHI) with the UN Development Programme (UNDP).
- The global MPI was developed for inclusion in UNDP's flagship Human Development Report in 2010.

- The MPI tracks deprivation across 3 dimensions and 10 indicators:

Highlights of G-MPI 2022

- Globally, 4.1 million poor people are deprived in all 10 MPI indicators.
- More than 45.5 million poor people (predominantly South Asia) are deprived in only these four indicators - nutrition, cooking fuel, sanitation and housing.
- Nearly 41 million poor people (mostly Sub-Saharan Africa) have deprivation profile in six standard of living indicators.

India specific findings

- The report also shines a light on the significant reductions of poverty in India, which shows how the SDG Target 1.2 - to reduce poverty by at least 50% by 2030 - is possible.
- In India, 41.5 crore people exited poverty between 2005/2006 and 2019/2021.
- India's MPI value and incidence of poverty were both more than halved.

	2005-2006	2015-2016	2019-2021
MPI value	0.28	0.122	0.069
Incidence of poverty	55%	27.7%	16.4%

- 22.8 crore in India still multi-dimensionally poor, of whom 9.7 crore are children
- Bihar, the poorest State in 2015/2016, saw the fastest reduction in MPI value in absolute terms.

Prosecution for Defamation

The Supreme Court held in a judgment that high constitutional functionaries, from the President of India to government Ministers, can prosecute his or her defamer as individuals under Section 199 of CrPC.

- Defamation is the act of communicating false statements about a person that injure the reputation of that person when observed through the eyes of ordinary man.
- Defamation is an offence under both the civil and criminal law in India.

Section 499 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 defines what is defamation and its exceptions.

- Section 199 of the Code of Criminal Procedure Code (CrPC) provide for the prosecution of defamation.
- Under Section 199 of CrPC, an ordinary citizen (private individual), needed to file a complaint with the local Magistrate to fight defamation.
- Whereas Section 199 of CrPC provides a 'special procedure' for a constitutional functionary to initiate prosecution for defamation.
- Special Procedure - A public prosecutor had to initiate prosecution for defamation for them after getting prior sanction from the State or Central government.
- The prosecutor then filed a complaint before a Sessions Court, which had the exclusive power to hear and try the case.
- Judgment - High constitutional functionaries need not depend on the state machinery to prosecute his or her defamer.
- They can either choose to go through the special procedure or opt to fight it as a private citizen.
- The special procedure was in addition to and not in derogation of the right that a public servant always had as an individual.
- The verdict also said that a political rival's challenge to a public office holder that he would 'expose' the latter's 'scam' would not amount to defamation.
