BharatQR

\n\n

\n

- It is the first common quick response (QR) code developed jointly by the four prominent card payment companies in the country — MasterCard, Visa, American Express and the National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) that runs RuPay cards.

\n

- It has been formed on the instructions of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI).

\n

- A QR code essentially is a label that can be read or scanned by a machine to access account details of a merchant to make online payments.

\n

- Apart from working as a common interface for the card platforms, BharatQR will also facilitate acceptance using the Unified Payments Interface (UPI), and Aadhaar-enabled payments.
