

RBI's restriction on Card Networks

Why in news?

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has ordered a certain card network to stop “unauthorised payments” made using business cards.

Card network

- Financial intermediary- They are also known as a payment network or card association that facilitates transactions between merchants and cardholders.
- Digital payment ecosystem-It plays a crucial role in enabling electronic payments and ensuring the smooth transfer of funds between different parties involved in a transaction.
- Role-They provide the infrastructure and technology that allows credit and debit cards to be used for purchasing goods and services.

- Authorised card networks in India-Visa, Mastercard, RuPay, Diners Club, and American Express.
- They were developed to utilise one mode of payment to pay for goods and services at multiple merchants and avoid carrying cash around.

What is the issue?

- RBI said that the card network was allowing businesses to make payments to entities that were not authorised to accept card payments, which was a violation of The Payment and Settlement Systems (PSS) Act, 2007.
- Intermediary arrangement- A card network had an arrangement that enabled businesses to make card payments through certain intermediaries to entities that did not accept card payments.
- Thus, the intermediary was accepting card payments from corporates for their commercial payments, and was then remitting the funds via IMPS (Immediate Payment Service), RTGS (Real-Time Gross Settlement), or NEFT (National Electronic Fund Transfer) to non-card accepting recipient.
- Violation of PSS Act- A “close scrutiny” revealed that such arrangement qualified as a payment system under Section 4 of the PSS Act, such a payment system requires authorisation, which had not been obtained in this case.

- Undesignated account-The intermediary in such an arrangement pooled a large amount of funds into an account that was not a designated account under the PSS Act.
- Non-compliance of KYC norms-The transactions processed under this arrangement did not comply with the 'originator and beneficiary information' requirements, as stipulated under the 'Master Direction on KYC (Know Your Customer)' issued by the RBI.

The Master Direction on KYC is a set of guidelines issued by the RBI to ensure that the entities regulated by it follow certain customer identification procedures and monitor their transactions to prevent money laundering and terrorist financing

- Regulation-RBI has advised the card network to keep all such arrangements in abeyance until further orders.
- There has been no restriction with respect to the normal usage of business credit cards.
