What are the issues with star campaigning?

- Expenditure assessment- Assessing expenditure for star campaigner's rallies often underestimate actual costs it is due to the rate card used by the Election Commission.
- Inefficiency- The expenditure assessment challenges is due to EC's rate card as it does not reflect current market rates for various items which results in lower apportionment of expenditure to contesting candidates.
- Advisory- Election Commission (EC) issued an advisory to all political parties, emphasizing decorum and issue-based debates during campaigning. Star campaigners were put on notice regarding violations.
- Inappropriate language- Star campaigners from various parties have used inappropriate and abusive language against leaders of opposing parties. Appeals to caste or communal feelings and unsubstantiated allegations have been observed.
- Madhya Pradesh Assembly By-Election 2020- The Supreme Court stayed the EC's decision to revoke Kamal Nath's star campaigner status for derogatory remarks against a woman candidate.

What lies ahead?

- RP Act, 1951 could be amended to authorize the EC to revoke the 'star campaigner' status of a leader in case of serious violations of the Model Code of Conduct. This action would prevent party candidates from receiving expenditure relief for their campaigns.
- Such an amendment would encourage a sense of responsibility among star campaigners, ensuring that campaigns maintain necessary decorum and restraint.
- A more robust assessment and apportionment of rally/meeting expenses, especially when star campaigners campaign for specific candidates, would enhance transparency and fairness.
- The reforms for campaigners is essential to promote ethical campaigning practices and uphold the integrity of democracy.
