What is a US congressional hearing?

 $n\n$

\n

• A congressional hearing involves members of the two houses, the Senate and the House of Representatives.

• They collect and analyse information on various matters of interest to the polity and the country.

• The legislative hearings are to do with policy measures.

• The oversight hearings, on the other hand, monitor government programmes.

- Besides, Congress holds investigative hearings into suspected wrongdoings by public officials and by private citizens.
- More recently, the senate intelligence committee held hearings on alleged Russian meddling in the 2016 presidential elections.
- The congressional hearings are conducted by committees.

What are these Committees all about?

 $n$

\n

• Committee - A committee is usually a panel of chamber members.

۱n

• It is tasked with developing legislation, holding hearings and conducting oversight.

\n

• Each committee has its own jurisdiction.

\n

• Depending on the type of committee, they are either elected by the chamber, or appointed by the Speaker.

\n

• The system is similar to the Indian parliamentary committees but far more powerful.

\n

• Structure - There are 20 active Standing Committees in the House of Representatives and 16 in the Senate.

\n

• There are also six joint committees.

۱n

- ullet In addition, the House has a Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence.
- The Senate has four Special committees, including one on intelligence.
- Committees, on occasions, have joint hearings, like they did for Zuckerberg's testimony.

\n

• Composition - A committee could typically have between a dozen and 40 members.

\n

• Every committee has an all-powerful chair drawn from the majority party in the chamber.

\n

- The chair decides which proposals the committee will consider first, and which can be pushed back. This is usually a political decision.

How are the hearings conducted?

\n

- Subjects A committee receives many proposals for hearings from several quarters, including from two chambers' members.
- But it is decided by assessing its importance to the nation, to specific political and other lobbies, and to the political leadership.
- It also decides if the issue fits in with its own goals and the political message that it wants to send out.
- Nature Almost always the hearings are open to the public.
- Open hearings, covered extensively by the media, are seen as a way to rally public support for or against an issue.
- $\bullet$  But committees have the power to "close" a hearing for reasons  $\ensuremath{^{\backslash n}}$

\n

i. of national security

۱n

- ii. of protecting the privacy and reputation of an individual
- ${\it iii.}$  of securing law-enforcement operations
- $\operatorname{iv.}$  if the witness is to reveal information that is protected by law  $\ensuremath{^{\backslash n}}$

 $n\n$

\n

 After hearing - The reports are generally published and become a matter of public record.

What rights do witnesses enjoy?

 $n$

 $n\n$

\n

• The witnesses enjoy certain rights by way of protections granted to them by the Constitution.

\n

 $n\n$

\n

• Witnesses may refuse a committee's order to attend the court by citing the right to free speech, assembly, or petition.

۱n

• They enjoy protection against self-incrimination.

• Several committees provide witnesses the right to have their counsel present during testimony.

\n

How is the Indian parliamentary committee system?

 $n\n$

\n

• Nature - The Indian system is modelled on the British parliamentary committee system.

\n

• However, unlike the US and British systems, India does not have a system of public hearings.

\n

• Also, in India, all proceedings are closed to the media.

\n

• Committees - There are two kinds of committees in India.

\n

• The Standing committees include financial committees, department committees, business advisory committees, etc.

\n

- $\bullet$  The ad hoc committees are appointed for a specific purpose when needed.  $\ensuremath{\backslash n}$
- $\bullet$  One type of ad hoc committee is the joint parliamentary committee.
- $\bullet$  The most high-profile of the JPCs have been investigative in nature. \n
- E.g. the JPC on Bofors, Harshad Mehta Stock Exchange scam, and the 2G spectrum case.

\n

• The JPCs have summoned and questioned experts, government officials and others.

\n

Refusing summon from a JPC constitutes contempt.
