

12 Ease of living for the majority must drive government
2 policies more than policies for attracting big investments. Discuss.

The multi dimensional poverty unless reports that India is home to large number of poor people at 22.8 crore 21% in the rural and 5% in the urban areas.

The policy decisions of the government - must focus on the majority in the countryside.

Ease of living for the majority

The governments needs to give quality of life and also attract investments to meet the social needs. The mega development projects through support economy by providing power, water and infrastructure needs it taxes heavy fall on the ~~in~~ indigenous people. Dams in India had displaced more than 44 million people depriving their livelihood.

~~The~~ ~~in~~ The major contribution to the economy comes from the majority wealth from investments

Measures taken to improve quality of lives

① Health - The ~~Atmanirbhar~~ Ayushman Bharath scheme comprehensively covers the medical expenses of the poor people.

② Education The New Education Policy insists to learn in mother tongue which can greatly reduce the dropout rates.

③ Sanitation is taken care of by the Saach Bharath and Jal Jeevan mission. The number of ODF open defecation free villages is more than one lakh.

④ Infrastructure - PM Gram Sadak Yojana, recently launched Crati Shakti master plan provides holistic development of infrastructure

Policies attracting big investments must accommodate and uplift the needs of the bottom lot. Such efforts are crucial in achieving

SDG-3 - good health and well being and

SDG-10 - reduced inequalities