

The election commission of India can delay the upcoming elections to handle the pandemic situation efficiently.

Do you agree with this view? comment.

The elections of Uttar Pradesh, Goa, Nagaland & few other key states election is ~~near~~ just around the corner meanwhile Omicron (ie) variant of concern is lurking around the corner for victims.

Although the delay in Election opinion is on the table issues are bound with it

Ignorance of MCOC :

This will lead to unethical practice by Political parties which may hamper the election where the moral code of conduct being non-binding

Mal campaign:

This include immoral campaigning during covid Restrictions. eg: Biased campaign, Money providing to voter to bias in voting.

Ruling Party Advantage:

This time is used by Ruling party to announce developmental plans to cover the public with government money communal spread fear is rampant among the crowd which will lead to many adverse conditions

Way Forward:

- Stricter administration on campaigning period on covid norms & election norms.
- Stricter curb on developmental program announcement
- using Bureaucracy for supervision of covid norms so that Election commission can focus on Election duty.

The time of election which is able to government is important but lives are more important, life delay is nothing compared to lives of citizens.
