The recent meeting among foreign ministers in the middle east suggests that India is marching towards an integrated regional policy. Elaborate (200 Words)

India is a founding member of Non-Alignment Nations and it shifted towards Multi alignment. But in middle east - India had difficulty in finding common ground. But recent development made India realise to embrace opportunity when it knocks the door.

Turkey  $\leftrightarrow$  Cyprus  $\leftrightarrow$  Egypt  $\leftrightarrow$  Saudi  $\leftrightarrow$  Israel
Arabs

Israel  $\leftrightarrow$  Arabs. From this we have a complicated relationship. U.S. <sup>never</sup> involvement only courses the middle east. So India always kept its distance.

But recent Abrahami Accord between US  $\leftrightarrow$  UAE  $\leftrightarrow$  Israel.
opens the way for India shift from bilateral to integrated regional policy. India doesn't worry about extending hands while not stepping on anyone's foot.

Indo-Abrahami Accord was a term coined by Egyptian Scholar. India always had direct impact either directly or indirectly because of middle east.

UPSC

India can use this new platform to extend its concern to the region.

Eastern Quad  $\hookrightarrow$  USA  $\hookrightarrow$  UAE  $\hookrightarrow$  Israel  $\hookrightarrow$  India is a new term used for the Co-operate platform.

This new shift is not only for India but also for other nations as well.

UAE  $\hookrightarrow$  Shift from Anti Israel policy

Israel  $\hookrightarrow$  Shift from Anti Arab nation policy

US  $\rightarrow$  ~~minimize~~ minimize its role in middle east to regional powers

India  $\rightarrow$  Multi alignment

"Make hay while Sun shine". This integrated regional policy has multi sector benefit both in trade, geo politics, geo strategic. India must exploit the opportunity to the maximum extent
