

Though the Supreme Court restricted the application of sedition law in various instances, it has been misused repeatedly. Should this law be replaced?

Section of sedition of IPC is 124A. It was created by the British colonial government in 1870, but today it is not justiciable because it creates various types of misinterpretations.

However, sedition section must be important for a nation to protect their sovereignty and integrity. The positive aspect of sedition is:

- ① it protects the nation's sovereignty and integrity.
- ② it creates nationalism and brotherhood.
- ③ it helps the government to implement their policy.

But some negative aspects concern with this sedition section 124A:

- ① Under the sedition section, no man can criticize the government, it only gives additional powers that might be misused.
- ② It restricts fundamental freedom of the citizen because no one can say against the government.
- ③ In a democratic society, it is this sedition that might be used in a monarchial way.

However, this sedition section is still needed.

to the country sovereignty and integrity
so law commission of India change
the same rule and regulation to give it that's it use in positive aspect.
@Government: create separate

Government create separate agency and officers to see sedition section that's why this officers work in proper manner and to have transparency people cannot be punished.
