India has made big strides in reducing population growth, but much more needs to be done to assure good reproductive health nationally. Discuss.

India has made a progress in reducing its population growth by the following Measures.

1) Scheme for Home delivery of Contraceptives by ASHAs at doorstep of beneficiaries.

2) Scheme for ASHAs to ensure Spacing in births

3) Dedicated Counsellors at high case load facilities for providing family planning counselling to clients.

4) Introduction of different types of Contraceptives, pills and injectable Contraceptives.

5) Pregnancy test is provided to ensure early registration of Pregnancy / Abortion Services.

Even though the Country has made a great progress in reducing its population growth the reproductive health declining.
