central government should allocate budget to that specific institution for the development of such schemes and implement them.

Nowadays the majority of political parties are concentrating to be in power for further terms also in this scenario the Ruling party in center will concentrate to allocate funds only in the Ruling party states. So non Ruling party states lie backward. Some political parties will also concentrate on funds gambling for future winning of party.

Conclusion : A separate institution without any political interference should be created to be in the practical development of all the states with a good transparency.
