

The strengthening relationships helps India reduce tensions ~~between~~ in relations between countries like Russia, who is slowly turning towards the Chinese.

Also European nations have proposed for reconciliation with the Russia, and also Japan ~~has~~ is keen on building its relation with India.

No other country has higher stakes than India in seeing this re-approachment. Also developing relations with France exclusively to stabilise the Indo-Pacific to make it "Open, Integrated and Balanced".

The China-US Trade war which has affected almost all major nations, so India has a good chance of supporting France and Japan to save the global trading system. India's idea of Multilateralism also helps in modernising, strengthening, the country.

~~the above~~ ~~relation~~

All the above instance shows the country's initiative to grow globally and draw Powers like Japan and Canada and countries of Africa for future growth.