

In order to manage the after effects of tropical cyclone storms India must create a social safety net. Do you agree with this view. Comment.

→ the landfall of a tropical cyclone leads to devastating outcomes as witnessed by the recent cyclones of yaas, amphan and gulab. In this light it is well evident, that a creation of social safety net might help to reduce the aftermath of such cyclones

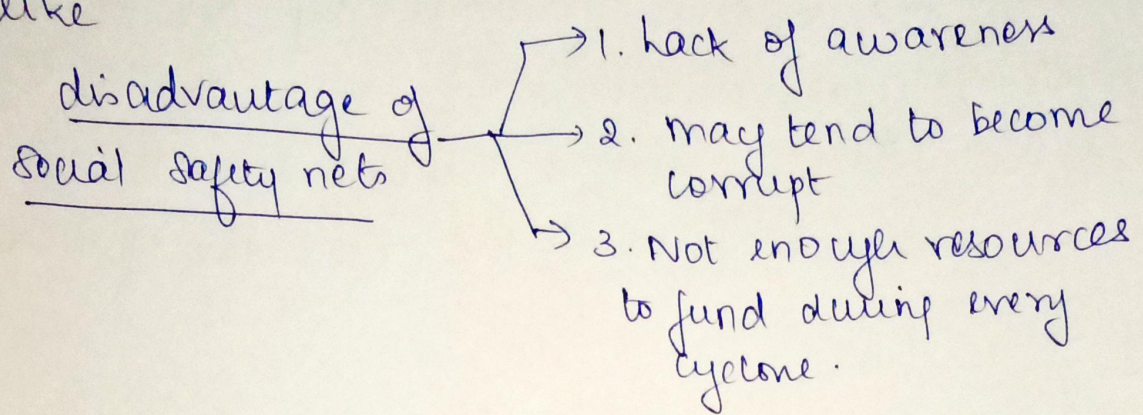

Need for a social safety net

→ People at the time of a cyclone tend to be misplaced after the landfall and its devastating effect
→ At such time, the safety net could be used widely to keep track of one's family and approach timely help from the civilians and responsible authorities.

→ the vulnerable and marginalised population tend to be benefited as far as factors like food, financial aid, health aid are available at timely and at an approachable end.

→ However there are some disadvantages as well like

→ Certain suggestion may help to overcome the said disadvantages

- Suggestions →
- i. co-ordinating with state & national disaster management authority.
 - ii. Implement laws against corruption
 - iii. Create awareness
 - iv. generate funds & resource through NAO, SFA
 - v. Coordinate with civil societies and the local people for proper data and implementation.

therefore ensuring transparency and inclusivity at the time of a natural disaster response may serve beneficial to the vulnerable population and setting up of a social safety net may be ideal.
